

Thomson Reuters has pulled together as a company to curate articles, government resources, guidance and insights from our editorial staff and Reuters news that give members a resource they can share with their end clients – as they navigate the changes happening due to Covid-19.

These can be used during conversations with clients who feel the need to be informed and updated:

<https://www.thomsonreuters.com/en/resources/covid-19-small-business-resources.html>

We hope this will be useful and would really love to hear the feedback and if this helps your end clients.