

As highlighted by the news in the world media, the European Union formulated a list of 18 countries that allow their travelers to enter Europe, and among them there is only one from Latin America and the Caribbean: URUGUAY.

Uruguay manages to be the 1st of the continent to which the EU opens its borders for travelers from there to enter the Old Continent.

The list of countries that will regain the opening of borders with the European Union are: Algeria, Australia, Georgia, Japan, Montenegro, Morocco, New Zealand, Rwanda, Serbia, South Korea, Thailand, Tunisia, Andorra, San Marino, Monaco, the Vatican, Canada and Uruguay, as reported by The New York Times.

Uruguayan Foreign Minister Ernesto Talvi shared the news on his social networks: "great recognition for the extraordinary work to control the pandemic and for humanitarian cooperation that has been an example in the world."

Ernesto Talvi - @ernesto_talvi 15:38 - 28 Jun. 2020

These are the comments from the foreign press that highlight this relevant fact that opens a door in Latin America through Uruguay:

Deutsche Welle (DW) Germany

<https://www.dw.com/en/eu-agrees-to-reopen-borders-to-14-countries-extends-travel-ban-for-us-tourists/a-53986435>

The Wall Street Journal (WSJ) USA

<https://www.wsj.com/articles/eu-opens-up-to-some-travelers-but-not-americans-11593524652>

We remember that we maintain updated information on COVID-19 in our country and the relevant regulations that have been issued since March due to this emergency. Visit <https://gts.com.uy/2020/05/22/portal-of-relevant-regulations-by-covid/>

Hope all of you are well and safe so we remain at your disposal in our little country in the Americas to spread about all the opportunities of business that our country provides

Gerardo Tasende, CPA- Managing Partner